Campaign In Danger.

That there is danger of the United War Work Campaign failing, is shown by the following telegram:

Nashville, Tenn.,
November 14.

Sentinel, Gainesboro, Tenn.

"There is grave danger of the United War Work Campaign failing since peace has come, as peoples efforts will be lessened."

"Tennessee must stand by her boys until their task is completed and they are home. We must do our part if we are worthy of the blood our boys have shed over there for us."

"J. A. Jackson, State Director."

There are citizens in this county, who have refused to give a penny to the United War Work Campaign, and why they refuse, it is hard to understand.

Every American citizen is rejoicing over the great victory for which our brave boys have been giving their lives, fighting for loved ones at home, that peace and happiness might reign throughout the land.

Yes, peace has come at last. What have you done that you can rejoice over?

There are those (you know 'em) who have invested a small amount in bonds and war stamps, but that's all. They haven't given a penny to anything, and we suggest that Uncle Sam TAX all slackers and learn them to be patriotic. Suppose we were all slackers, what then?

We had rather be in Hell with the Kaiser, than to wear the name of being a slacker when the boys get back.

The United War Work Campaign needs your help.

Turn your pockets wrongside out till the boys come home.

Union Prayer Meeting.
Sunday evening 6:30 p. m. at M. E. Church. Study John. 2.

The meetings will be held alternately at the Christian church and Methodist church.

Protect Men.

New York, Nov. 14.

Dr. John R. Mott, director general of the united war work campaign, says that, in view of the signing of the armistice and cessation of hostilities, it will be necessary not only to raise $170, 500,000 as originally asked for by the officials of the seven different organizations represented in the drive, but 50 per cent additional as recently requested by the leaders in the work.

"It will cost much more to serve our millions of soldiers, sailors and marines during the time they are not actually fighting," says Dr. Mott, "than it has to serve them while they have been actually engaged in military operations. We are soon to enter on a long, cold, bitter period of winter, and we must not forget the high death rate from pneumonia that prevailed last winter when we had comparatively few men over sea. During last winter we lost more men by disease than were killed by German bullets. We must be prepared to prevent this to a large extent by over-subscribing the united war work fund 50 percent."

Jackson county has 300 soldiers in France, who will not return before next year. Do you want to protect them from disease until they return? If you do give all you can to the United War Work Campaign.

Unlike Topsy— Swift & Company Has Not "Jest Grown"

Swift & Company, in fifty years of well ordered growth, has become one of the great national services because it has learned to do something for the American people which they needed to have done for them, in the way in which they preferred to have it done.

It has met each successive demand, in the changing conditions of national life, by getting good meat to increasing millions effectively, efficiently, economically, and expeditiously.

The Swift & Company packing plants, refrigerator cars, car routes, branch houses, organization, and personnel of today are the practical solutions, born of practical experience, to the food problems of half a century.

Because of all these elements working in correlation and unison, Swift & Company is able to supply more and better meat to more people than would have been possible otherwise, at a net profit per pound of meat so low (a fraction of a cent) that the consumer price is practically unaffected.

Strip away any portion of this vast, smooth-running human machine, and you make a large part of the meat supply uncertain, lose the benefit of half a century of fruitful experience, and scatter the intelligent energies of men who have devoted a life work toward meeting the needs of a nation in one vital field.

The booklet of preceding chapters in this story of the packing industry will be mailed on request to

Says General Pershing, referring to one of the war work organizations:

"A SENSE of obligation for the varied and useful service rendered to the army in France . . . prompts me to join in the appeal for its further financial support. I have opportunity to observe its operations, measure the quality of its personnel and mark its beneficial influence upon our troops, and I wish unreservedly to commend its work for the army."
